

Halemanu

"Jazz Infused Rock n Roll with Hawaiian Soul"

Singer/Guitar/Ukulele/Slack Key Guitar

Halemanu's deep vocals and fingers that dance on the strings of the guitar, ukulele, & slack key guitar have become the hallmark of his "Jazz Infused Rock n Roll with Hawaiian Soul" music. He is a wonderful live performer that not only plays music, but plays with his music. His 2018 debut album, "So The Story Goes", was awarded Hawai'i's prestigious Nā Hoku Hanohano Award for Island Music album of the year. The album has a fun vibe with toe tapping rhythms. He has shared the stage or done projects with Oprah Winfrey, Willie Nelson, members of Aerosmith, and many others. Behind the scenes, he has also produced hundreds of musical and media projects that have appeared in Hawaii, the US, and internationally. He is also the creator of the Hawaiian Guitar School, an online educational platform, debuting in late 2018.

"Halemanu is a caliber of musician that seems to channel music through them, as if in total harmony with its nature, drawing from a very organic source. He has a deep understanding of music and yet delivers with a soulful, humble heart."

Pete Sebastian - Hawai'i Radio Personality

"Exquisite and fluid playing. You are a pleasure to watch!"

Eddie and Leslie - San Francisco

"He impressed us all. Just a whole lot of entertainment from one guy."

Morris H - New York

"Halemanu introduces himself with a beautifully crafted musical snapshot of contemporary Hawai'i ("So The Story Goes" album)."

John Burger - Honolulu Star Advertiser (April 13, 2018)
